Teijin Limited Supports JCMA's Position Paper on Contributions of Carbon Fiber, Issued in Regards to a Proposed Revision of the EU's ELV Directive

Tokyo, May 9, 2025: Teijin Limited announced today that it supports the position paper issued by the Japan Carbon Fiber Manufacturers Association \(JCMA\) regarding a proposed revision of the European Union's End-of-Life Vehicles (ELV) Directive.

The JCMA position paper highlights the contributions of carbon fiber to enhanced vehicle performance and longevity, as well as its essential role in realizing a hydrogen society that supports a carbon-neutral future. In addition, the paper notes that insufficient evidence exists regarding the negative health effects of carbon fiber. It summarizes points to consider regarding the appropriate treatment of carbon fiber under the ELV Directive.

Teijin Limited has set a long-term goal of achieving net-zero CO₂ emissions by 2050. As part of this effort, the company plans to expand its market presence in the mobility, infrastructure and industrial sectors with products – including carbon fiber – that add value and differentiation through sustainability. Moving forward, Teijin will continue striving to minimize the negative environmental and social impacts of its business activities, aiming to become a "company that protects the global environment" as part of its long-term vision to "support the society of the future."
